ORANGE COUNTY CREEK WEEK KICKS OFF MARCH 16TH!

Orange County's Annual Creek Week is March 16-23, 2024. Orange County Creek Week celebrates the streams, lakes, and rivers that connect our human and non-human communities. It's a weeklong series of activities like a litter cleanup, community science BioThon, invasive plant removal, green infrastructure tours, and more! For a full List of Events visit: <https://townofcarrboro.org/2674/Orange-County-Creek-Week>. To volunteer at any event contact Heather Holley at hholley@carrboronc.gov.

BOLIN CREEK VOLUNTEER PLANTING WORKDAYS

Volunteer Planting Workdays to protect Bolin Creek!

March 16 and 23rd.

Contact Meg Molloy at meg1molloy@gmail.com for more information.

Orange County Creek Week BioThon

Discover how water connects us by documenting plant and animal species in your community as part of a county-wide community science project. During Creek Week observations logged into iNaturalist will become part of the Creek Week BioThon. iNaturalist is an online social network of people sharing biodiversity information to help each other learn about nature.

4rd Annual Joint Creek Clean-up Event

Register Online

Do you like data collection and being outside? This event is for you. The Towns of Chapel Hill and Carrboro present the fourth annual Joint Trash Clean Up! Some volunteers will pick up trash along Roberson Bike Path. Other volunteers will inventory the trash. Trash inventories tell us what exactly is going to our waterways, and potentially shows us where the trash comes from.

Meeting location: Community School for People Under Six at 102 Hargraves St, Carrboro, NC 27510

Creek Exploring at Wilson Park

Join Carrboro and Chapel Hill staff and volunteers creekside to explore Bolin Creek at Wilson Park/Adams Tract. Learn about this local waterway and the species that call it home. Dress for a messy good time!

USGS, Urban Sustainability Solutions, Inc, and Lands & Waters South will be onsite with information and activities. Visit:
